

20 Millions Cut In State Budget, Leaders Indicate

Renewed Opposition to Any Cut in State Workers' Salaries Arises; Solution of Problem Near

Hearing Recesses

Democrats Charge Insurance Committee Is 'Getting Nowhere'

Albany, N. Y., March 16 (AP)—Renewed opposition to any pruning of state workers' salaries was sounded today as legislative leaders indicated probable reduction of Governor Lehman's $415,032, 122 budget by nearly $20,000,000.

Confident they were nearing solution of the state's financial problem, chief bar to a hoped-for adjournment of the Legislature within four weeks, influential Republicans saw budget reductions a certainty but said any decrease acceptable to both Senate and Assembly would be less than $20,000,000.

Their estimate was reached in the face of wide-spread demands by taxpayers for wholesale slashing of the 1939-40 spending program and defeat of Governor Lehman's tax proposals for raising $64,000,000.

An outright cut of ten per cent in state workers' pay has been suggested in some quarters to help balance the budget, while legislators are known to have studied possible suspension of the 1937 Field-Hamilton law reducing civil service jobs and providing annual salary increases.

Hamilton Objects

Latest opposition to any tampering with state salaries came from former Republican Assemblyman Laurens M. Hamilton, Rockland county, co-author of the act.

He was quoted by Charles A. Brind, Jr., president of the Association of State Civil Service Employees, as asserting the "appalling figure" of the budget was "not because of excessive salaries but because of the excessive number of state agencies."

"If any cut is made in this budget," Hamilton said, "it should be made by abolishing unnecessary services and not by cutting the pay of state employees in general."

Hamilton asserted that while operation of the so-called civil service "career law" he sponsored appears as an increased expense, "it is because of the adjustments which 20 years of slipshod methods have made necessary."

"Once those adjustments are completed," he added, "the annual increase under this law will be less than the usual item of salary increases has been in the past."

Hearing Recesses

A Republican-controlled legislative committee investigating administration of New York's unemployment insurance law faced today Democratic charges it is "getting nowhere."

As the group took a short recess in a series of state-wide hearings on the law and its administration, Assemblyman Irwin Steingut, one of the four Democratic members, spoke out against the inquiry thus far.

"There are too many delays and I suggest that the committee get down to work," he asserted at a hearing yesterday. "We are getting nowhere with this line of questioning."

"That's a matter of opinion," snapped Assemblyman Charles O. Burney, Jr., Republican chairman.

The brief exchange occurred during the questioning of Miss Louise C. Ogden, personnel director in the unemployment insurance division, who had admitted 33 of 117 active managers of local offices failed to pass civil service tests.

Britain's Press Assails Germany

Newspapers Take No Pleased From Chamberlain's Appeasement Remarks

London, March 16 (AP)—The British press assailed Germany today for breaking up the Czechoslovak republic and found in Germany's emergence as an imperialist power further reason for vigorous preparedness.

British Prime Minister Chamberlain stuck to his policy of appeasement and simultaneous rearmament but the emphasis was on the latter.

The prime minister angered many newspapers by his mild statement in the House of Commons yesterday—that Reichsfuehrer Hitler's action was inconsistent with "the spirit of Munich."

The Manchester Guardian commented that Chamberlain had "a freezing gift of understatement."

Generally the press called on the government to "keep your powder dry" and characterized Germany as an "undisguised" enemy of all Europe.

It was believed that General Jan Syrový, former premier and more recently Czechoslovak defense minister, and Premier Rudolf Benes might have been in the group of refugees from Prague which flew to London Tuesday night and went into seclusion.

Germany at the outbreak of the World War had an estimated population of 68,000,000 and an area of 208,780 square miles. Today Germany dominates a population of 90,000,000 and an area of 268,000 square miles.

In the loss of friendly Czechoslovakia, Britain and France saw the disappearance of 40 army divisions and their modern military equipment passed into German hands—tanks, heavy artillery, munitions, an air fleet and the factories that produced them.

They saw Germany gain timber, iron, coal, graphite, lead, copper, silver and other mineral wealth along with thousands of industrial units.

The Times of London, pro-government, which excused German acquisition of Sudetenland last October, said:

"For the first time since Nazism came to power, German policy has moved unequivocally and deliberately into the open."

Scouts Will Hold June Camp-o-Ree At Armory Plain

Annual Encampment Will Be Held June 2, 3 and 4; Plans Are Being Made for World's Fair Camp

Regional Meeting

Ulster-Greene Council Probably Will Be Represented at Utica Parley

June 2, 3 and 4 have been set as the dates of the third annual camp-o-ree of the Ulster-Greene County Boy Scouts at the New York State Armory grounds, it was announced last night at a meeting of the executive board of the area scout council in the Governor Clinton Hotel.

Plans for the affair will be made by Fred Van Voorhis, chairman of the camping committee, and Scout Executive Burns. Other business was taken up at the meeting at which James Killough, regional executive, was a guest.

Fair Encampment

Authority was given to recruit a troop of scouts to attend the scout encampment at the New York World's Fair, provided enough boys will qualify for the trip and adequate leadership can be secured. An encampment to accommodate 150 scouts a week, throughout the duration of the fair, has been provided. The local contingent will have a week at the fair, cost to each boy being $10. No date has been arranged as yet.

Major O. R. Hiltbrant, chairman of the organization committee, reported 10 new troops being formed in council territory. The major, with one assistant from each district, is intensifying the drive and working on applications for new troops which have been hanging fire for some time. All the new troops are being organized upon requests from the localities and are an answer to a real demand.

Regional Meeting

Announcement was made of the regional meeting for scouts to be held at Utica April 21. It is for all scouts in the New York-New Jersey area, Region 2. Dr. Keator, president of the council, is trying to get at least two cars of local men to attend the one-day meeting and five of those present at the meeting last night said that they would make the trip.

Dates were set for the conduct of Camp Half Moon this year. The camp will open July 2 and continue through July 30. The executive and camp committees are to prepare plans and report at the April meeting of the executive board. Scout Executive Burns, commenting on the fact that the camp last year was the biggest and best ever, said that prospects looked good for this year's camp season. There is some question as to the effect the World's Fair will have on attendance at the camp, but Mr. Burns said he doubted if it would make much if any difference with the boys who plan to attend Camp Half Moon. Howard Mosher of Tannersville, camp director last year, will again fill the same position next summer.

The board adopted a new constitution and by-laws, an act made necessary by the incorporation last summer of the Ulster-Greene Council.

Milk Industry Faces Early Drop in Prices, Trend Shows

Syracuse, N. Y., March 16 (AP)—New York's milk industry faced today the prospects of an early price drop with little chance of a return to price-fixing for several months.

Almost at the same time a state Assembly committee blocked an almost immediate return to milk price fixing. New York city distributors predicted a decline in the price of grade B milk for both consumer and producer.

A major distributor who refused to be quoted said a decrease from 13 1/2 to "about 12 1/2" cents per quart for delivered grade B milk is "probable shortly." This, he added, would be accompanied by a corresponding drop in the price paid farmers.

Metropolitan distributors, independent dealers and protective groups added, however, they knew of no present price-cutting and termed the milk supply normal.

Hitler Reveals 'Error;' 376,000 Jews in Area

Hitler States Bohemians and Moravians Were for 1,000 Years Part of Germany, Lost Through Violence

Prague, March 16 (AP)—Following is an abstract of Chancellor Hitler's proclamation of a protectorate over Bohemia and Moravia, broadcast by German Foreign Minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop:

"For a thousand years Bohemian and Moravian lands were part of the living space of the German people. But force and lack of reason tore them arbitrarily from their old historic environment, and finally, through their inclusion in the artificial formation of Czechoslovakia, created a center of disturbance. At any time from this space a new and formidable threat to European peace was bound to arise. This had happened once before."

Challenges Organization That is because the Czechoslovak state and those in charge of it did not succeed in the sensible organization of the common life of national groups, which were arbitrarily united within its borders, and thereby in awakening and maintaining the interests of all concerned in maintaining this common state.

"Thereby the Czechoslovak state proved its inability to live and actually fell to pieces. The German Reich, however, could not tolerate lasting disturbances in these regions which are so important to its own peace and security as well as to the general welfare and the general peace. Sooner or later Germany was the power most strongly interested through its historical and geographical position and, as the power most seriously affected, was destined to bear the most serious consequences."

Law of Self-Survival

It is therefore by the law of self-survival that the German Reich is determined to intervene decisively again to erect the common state. (Continued on Page 14)

Hearing Due Soon On Woodstock WPA Art Project Status

Complaints by Taxpayers and Artists Who Charge Unfair Treatment Will Receive Hearing on Saturday

Woodstock, March 16—Complaints against the local WPA art project made largely by taxpayers and some by local artists who claim they are being treated unfairly are due for an airing here within the next few days, it was announced today.

Those supervising the art project are charged also with political and "un-American" affiliations, and with showing favoritism for artists who reside in New York city.

It is the contention also of local taxpayers and a few of the complaining artists that an investigation of a WPA project by WPA officials is unsatisfactory and generally results in no change of existing conditions.

Group Not Satisfied

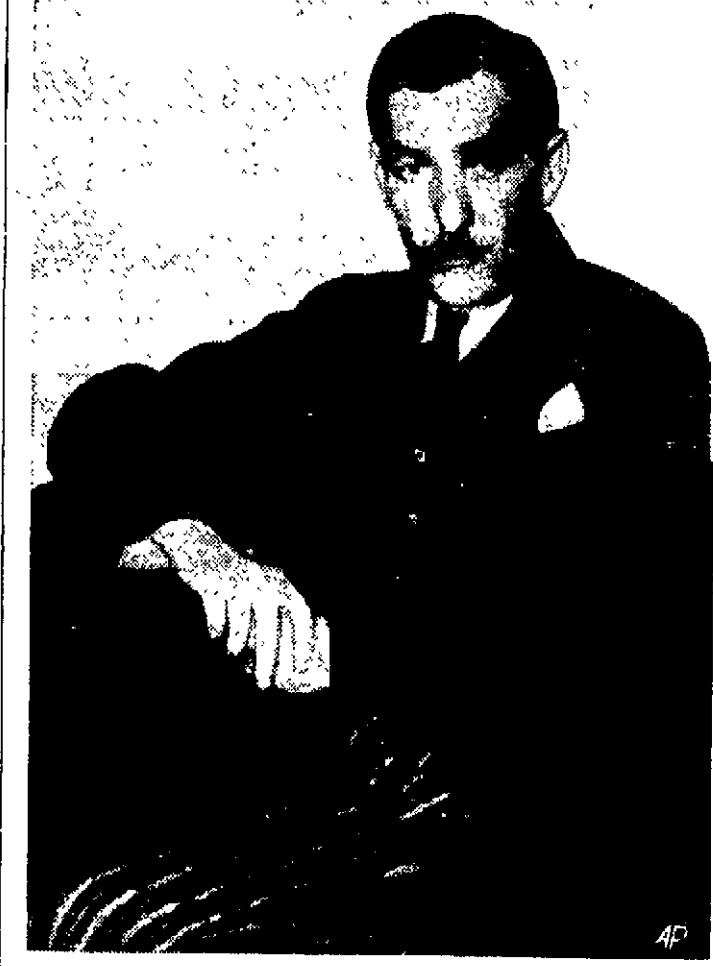

The protesting group still express themselves as dissatisfied with results of a recent investigation by Eric Branham, director of the Women's and Professional Projects, who was in Woodstock last week. He came from Albany following a series of complaints from taxpayers and dissenting artists.

Mrs. Audrey McMahon, one of the New York administrators of the Ulster County Federal Art Project, has notified local workers and members of the press that she intends to be in Woodstock to meet them on Saturday.

Outstanding complaint is that artists who do not prefer to join the artists' union supported by many of the project workers, are discriminated against. Another objection of the local group, is that local artists who have been resident taxpayers for many years have been dropped from the project.

Also under question is the reported right of certain project workers to obtain the work relief intended for the needy. Mr. Branham while in Woodstock contracted a number of project workers, asking them their opinion of the local administration of the project.

Social Group Cites Economy as Issue

Waste, Spending on Luxury Items Says New President

Albany, N. Y., March 16 (AP)—The United conference for social legislation considered economy today as "probably the most important single issue before New York's taxpayers."

Shortly after convening in a two-day session last night, the group heard Stanley M. Isaacs, president of the borough of Manhattan, add, however, that "we must still take care of the social needs of the community."

"Strict economy means elimination of waste and cessation of spending on luxuries," he said. "But that does not mean government agencies can simply stop spending."

"Economies can be sought only in certain administrative expenses—in order to increase socially necessary expenditures." Isaacs advocated that the state pay 60 per cent of relief costs, he said, "the state must recognize its responsibility in relief even more than in the past."

"If New York state takes over taxes now used by New York city to raise relief funds (sales tax) then the state must assume the burden," he continued.

"If the legislature really believes in economy let them pass bills to cut out waste. Let them remove from the payrolls political favorites. Unnecessary jobs can be stricken out of the budget and bench warmers . . . put back to work."

Truckman's Helper Accused Of Murder in Death of Four

Buffalo, N. Y., March 16 (AP)—John Joseph Coogan, 33, truckman's helper, was charged with first degree murder today in the fire which last Saturday killed three children and an elderly man.

Coogan also was charged with first degree arson and officers checked other recent fires after the Erie county district attorney said, Coogan confessed starting the blaze Saturday in the home of William B. Clark, Jr., his former employer. Clark's father and two of Clark's children were victims.

Fuehrer Also Lays Down Law for Bohemia and Moravia as Europe Wonders What Will Come Next

Teleky Proclaims

Hungarian Border Is Now at Poland Announces Hungarian Premier

(By The Associated Press)

The two new states left from the wreckage of Czechoslovakia, Carpatho-Ukraine and Slovakia, faded today from Europe's map.

Hungary annexed Carpatho-Ukraine (Ruthenia) and Germany took Slovakia under her protection as Reichsfuehrer Hitler laid down German law for Bohemia and Moravia and the rest of Europe wondered anxiously where next German expansion would be felt.

Only one man—Hitler—knows the answer. He was in Prague awaiting a propitious moment to appear before 7,000,000 new Czech subjects over whom he had laid his protective hand.

Teleky Proclaims

While Hungarian troops were reaching the Polish frontier, after marching across Carpatho-Ukraine, Hungarian Premier Count Paul Teleky proclaimed to the wildly cheering Parliament in Budapest:

"Carpatho-Ukraine becomes a part of the kingdom of Hungary." A bitter battle raged seven miles west of Cluj, the Carpatho-Ukraine capital, as Czech and Ukrainian forces made a determined stand against Hungarian troops in trenches and behind barbed wire entanglements.

A Hungarian officer said that before noon 100 Hungarian soldiers had been killed or wounded in the battle and that Czech forces had suffered heavy losses.

Henderson's Recall

In London, British Prime Minister Chamberlain told the House of Commons that Britain was considering calling home Sir Nevill Henderson, ambassador to Berlin, to report on Germany's new advance eastward.

Chamberlain declined to reply, however, when he was asked whether the government "contemplates protesting to Germany against the invasion of Czechoslovakia."

Sir John Simon, chancellor of the exchequer, indicated steps had been taken to keep from Germany gold held by the Czech National Bank in London. Home Undersecretary Geoffrey Lloyd said Nazi organizations in Britain were being "watched most closely."

"At the same time, the House was asked to approve naval estimates of $765,333,405 for 1939-40—a record for peacetime—and was told Britain's navy, her first line of defense, could "confidently accept a direct challenge in battle by any probable combination of foes."

Fate of Nation

This, then, was the fate of Czechoslovakia in the three days since German intervention in Slovak agitation for independence. The federation of Czechoslovakia—Bohemia and Moravia, Carpatho-Ukraine and Slovakia—was wiped from the map.

Slovakia achieved independence, as a vassal state of Germany, then was taken under German protection.

Carpatho-Ukraine won independence, then lost it as a protectorate of Hungary.

Bohemia and Moravia, the Czech part of Czechoslovakia, including Prague, became a German protectorate.

In Berlin, foreign diplomatic circles saw the possibility that Reichsfuehrer Hitler, plunged now on an undisguised empire-building drive, might strike quickly again while the iron was hot. They asked:

How soon will Hitler act for return of the war-lost free city of Danzig and Memelland? How quickly will he follow up the latest advance of his "drang nach Osten"—"drive to the east"—with new strides toward the rich treasures of the Ukraine?

In Paris, agitation appeared to be growing for a coalition government of all parties which would present a strong front toward Germany, master of France's one-time ally, Czechoslovakia.

Although it was accomplished by Hungarian forces reaching Poland's frontier through Carpatho-Ukraine, Polish military sources in Warsaw expressed joy "that the 20-year dream of a common frontier with Hungary has now been realized."

Premier Augustin Volosin, premier of Carpatho-Ukraine, fled to Rumania.

In Rome, the Fascist press continued to give the new German expansion moderate approval but rejected Croatian demands for independence from Yugoslavia.

New Paltz Woman On Special Gifts Committee Appeal

Mrs. Edna J. O'Brien of Grove street, New Paltz, chairman for the women's special gifts committee of the cardinal's committee of the laity for the 1939 fund appeal of New York Catholic Charities, announces that active solicitation of individuals and business firms, not reached in the ordinary course of parish activities, will continue up until March 19, the date set for the parish appeal.

The cardinal's committee of the laity, Mrs. O'Brien stated in explaining its activities, is composed of men and women soliciting special gifts, also all parish workers who make a house to house appeal.

"This committee was organized by the late Cardinal Hayes, who founded Catholic Charities in 1920," Mrs. O'Brien continued, "following his original survey of the field of Catholic Charities in the archdiocese of New York. The survey showed that, despite the excellent work being accomplished by the Catholic charitable agencies, three principal weaknesses existed: Lack of unification; lack of sufficient funds to improve existing facilities; and the need for the extension of Catholic charitable works in many sections of the diocese."

"Cardinal Hayes, then archbishop, approved the findings of the report and planned immediately for an intensive appeal. He called together some 20,000 lay people in the then 200 parishes and formed a committee which was to interest itself not only in the collection of funds, but also in the work for which they were collected. It is this committee which is now known as the cardinal's committee of the laity."

Origin of the Cravat

Cravat is the name given by the French in the reign of Louis XIV to the scarf worn by the Croatian soldiers enlisted in the royal Croatian regiment (Fr. cravate, a corruption of "Croati"). Made of linen or muslin with broad edges of lace, it became fashionable, and the name was applied both in England and France to various forms of neckerchief, from the loosely tied lace cravat with long flowing ends, called a "Steinkirk" after the battle of 1692, to the elaborately folded and lightly starched linen or cambric neckcloth worn in the late eighteenth and early nineteenth centuries.

Spring is the worst season of the year... where furnaces are concerned!

You never know what to expect. One day you wear a fur coat and the next day you put it away in moth balls thinking that summer is surely here. Furnaces are as perverse as the weather. On a cold, damp day most of them won't burn at all but, on a warm, balmy day, you just can't live in the same house with one. Then you decide to let yours go out... and that's where you make a great mistake.

OUR SOLUTION to the Spring and Fall weather problem is a neat little gas burner designed to be installed in your present furnace. It's so simple the grates are not even removed! It will keep your home at an even, comfortable temperature regardless of the outside weather. Have one installed now, use it this Spring and again next Fall until steady cold weather sets in, then, if you wish, it will be removed for your return to other fuels at no cost to you.

If it's better beer you're after look for the good word—

"Malt"

"Only a beer made solely from hops and barley-malt and no other grain may be labeled a 'Malt' beer. This is the way fine imported beers are brewed; it is the distinction which, in expert opinion, sets Trommer's apart as a more palatable and thoroughly satisfying brew."

Reunion
Louisville, Ky.—Responding to a knock at the door, William T. Doyle, 64, a distillery employee, thought he saw a ghost when he admitted his brother, Robert P. Doyle, 61.
"I came back to see if you were dead," said Robert Doyle.
The two brothers, each believing the other dead, had not met for 33 years.

Timber!
Chicago — Policeman Charles Jackson drew a lot of wisecracks from the sidewalk crowd which gathered to see him chop down a large tree that had been broken by the wind.
He told the crowd he would fell the tree between sidewalk and curb—and he did to the accompaniment of applause.
"Up in Escanaba, Mich., they used to call me 'Old Hickory' when I was a lumberjack," he explained, "I've been 25 years on the police force waiting for a job like this."

Tea Time Salesman
Minneapolis—The court stewed while the pot brewed and a civil trial encountered delay.
At 11 a. m. after a 15 minute recess, a count and recount of jury box faces totaled only eleven. The court marked time for 40 minutes, then recessed to 2 p. m. Where was Mrs. Mary E. McManus, salesman No. 12? Out having a cup of tea, she explained to the judge when the trial was resumed.

In leading the International League in victories last year, southpaw Joe Sullivan, now of the Boston Bees, registered the highest number of wins credited to a Toronto hurler in four years. Walby Hatcher had 19 for the Leafs in 1935, one more than Sully's 1938 total.

OLD HOME WEEK MURDER

by Phoebe Atwood Taylor

The Characters

Ascy Mayo, Cape Cod sleuth.
Jane, ward of the murdered woman.

Yesterday: Ascy sees Sara sleepwalking. He decides to investigate a few people, including Jane.

Chapter 10

Dummy With Dropsy

AT BREAKFAST Ascy propped the official program against his coffee cup and read doggedly through the events of the day.

Tuesday was Old Settlers' Day, and began with a town flag-raising at nine-thirty. School children, the chorus, and the soprano would render "America."

"Aha," Ascy said. "Render is right, but render is better—" he told Bertha, the Leaches' cook.

After "America" and "Billingsgate Beautiful," the remainder of the morning was devoted to a reunion of Old Settlers at the various churches, an address of welcome at the Town Hall, and at twelve thirty there was to be a luncheon for the lambs, given by the selectmen in the Women's Club Parlor. The sheep and goats had to buy themselves a box lunch, which a footnote described to the last stuffed olive.

The afternoon was more or less mutilated by baseball. Billingsgate All-Stars versus Philbrick's Fireworks Nine. That night, Upjohn's Merry-makers would hold a grand open air concert at the canopied dance floor next to the ball park. Free. The midway carnival offered fun for all, and the movies were right on deck with two, and new features for the price of one, free souvenirs, a sterling-silver-plated coffee urn for the prize ticket, and a Mickey Mouse to boot. Everything ended up with fireworks. Events marked with an asterisk would be broadcast.

Ascy sighed. "Just readin' it," he told Bertha as she brought in more coffee. "Makes me feel tired and old before my time. If they keep up that pace all week till Sunday, they'll be limp slivers of skin and bone."

"Tomorrow's Governors' Day," Bertha said. "Three governors. I'll be like today, except all the things to do with them, and speeches and a banquet. Thursday's Billingsgate Day. Tag day for the new hospital they want, and they're going to lay the cornerstone of a new library addition. Everything's to do with the town, sort of. Friday's Historical Day."

"What's that?"
"I don't know, much," Bertha said honestly. "Speeches, I guess, and drives to points of interest, like where the British nearly landed in 1812, and where the Pilgrims didn't land, and where they think those Islanders passed by. You know."

Ascy nodded. "History marches past, or Change-to-get-a-good-read Day. Go on."

"Saturday's Cape Cod Day. That's going to be swell. Water sports and field sports. All the towns got teams entered. Yacht races, golf matches at the club, and all. Dances, and a Great Marmalade Ball, all free. And that's the day they give the prizes for the exhibitions at the Town Hall. I've got some beachblum jelly entered."

"If it's anything like your marmalade," Ascy said, "gets my vote. Right now, I couldn't enter popovers, could you? No, I suppose they're kind of perishable. Say, I tell you what I'm going to give my prize for on right now. He pulled out his wallet and impressively counted out ten crisp one-dollar bills.

Exploitation
"FOR me!" Bertha's eyes opened wide.
"For the popovers. Course, you got to finger it's only six dollars, want with money leavin' around. Bertha, tell me about Sunday, and I won't have to look at that valley-blue program any more. What's Sunday?"
"Church Day. Did I tell you about the broadcasts and the fireworks, and the clamakes, and parades, and maskers, and the band? And the summer camps, they're putting on a show, and Mike Slade has some sort of show, too."

"Say," Ascy interrupted. "that's fine. Did Slade come here this morning for me?"
"No," Bertha hesitated. "What do you make of him?"
"Seems all right. Friend of yours?"
"I went out with him, a couple of times when he first came to town. It wasn't much fun, he talks for me to work here. Can you beat that? Like I told him, anyone who works here is lucky. Good room, and food, and wages, and you always know what's going on. Where else'd I work, I asked him. Who's going to support my mother if I don't? I said, but he said I was being exploited, I looked up 'exploit' in the dictionary, and it said, 'to take advantage of.' I couldn't see anything wrong about that. Aunt Sara laughed when I asked her, and said exploit meant my cooking."

Bertha chatted on, and when she showed any signs of running down, Ascy supplied new subjects. Gradually he led her to talk of Sara, but at the barest suggestion of her sleepwalking, Bertha shut up like a clam and retired to the kitchen.

"Huh," Ascy said.
He took his roadster from the garage and drove over to the little one-roomed house Slade had built for himself on the outskirts of town.

The door was open, and the house was empty. On an unmade bed were laid out immaculate white flannel trousers and a blue coat with brass buttons. There were fish hooks and lines on the table.

"I bet," Ascy said, "he's playin' hooky an' gone fishin'. But—" A young man came to the door as Ascy left.

"Mike there? Damn him, where is he! He's not at his studio, either. Never saw such a—have you seen him? Well, if you do, tell him he's got work to do, and to get to the Town Hall in a hurry. If this is the way he—"

Grumbling, the young man got into a blue-and-yellow-draped car and tore off.

No Shells
Ascy drove back up the beach road to Hell Hollow. Jane waved a hand to him from the shop, where she was taking care of a dozen customers. Lane, in dirty khaki pants and a flannel shirt, was mending a lawnmower.

"I wouldn't know you," Ascy said, "how do you do it?"
"Rumpled my hair, dirtied my face, that's all. There's an advantage in being nondescript. People who've seen me in uniform don't know me in plain clothes, and the other way around. Ascy, this business is not so hot."

"Can't find any trace of a shell?"
"I've raked high and low, and not a thing. He stood in a line—what's the matter?"
"I'm lookin' at them fool figures," Ascy said. "Those dummies. There are four of 'em, I only counted three last night."

"One fell down," Lane said. "It was on the ground this morning. Has dropsy. It's fallen down four times since. I'm going to mend it after I'm through with this mower. Listen, from where those balls were in the wall, he stood in about the line of you and the house and that big pipe. That's the line. I wouldn't know what distance away. Probably over by the garden. Ascy, this lad's got us. D'you realize that?"

Ascy nodded. "No shell, no nothing. We can't tell anything about any gun unless we have that shell. Why'n't he use a pistol, so we'd have something to work on with a bullet? Anyway, without the shell we can't tell the gun, an' without the gun we can't tell the man. An' even if we guess something, an' he's got a shotgun, that don't prove a thing. We got to find that shell, an' we got to find it here."

"Probably," Lane said, "the gent thought of that, and deposited the shells and gun out in the Atlantic. I've been wondering about the ball end of it. We might find out who bought any deer ball at Harry's."

"But the ball could have been bought in Timbuctoo," Ascy said. "It's like tryin' to find out where someone bought a stick of chewin' gum from the wrapper. This is kind of a clever way of killin' someone, ain't it, Lane?"

"We've got a dozen shotgun mounds on the flies," Lane said. "One since 1914. We still putter around with it in our spare time. I sort of think, Ascy, you're not going to have any Garrison finish in this case. You might just as well dig in for the winter. All you've got is the fact that she was killed last night by someone with a shotgun out here."

"That's probably a real live moon, or someone's fakin' and have you thought, Ascy, that there are going to be a lot of fireworks to come?"
"It's preyin' on me," Ascy said. "Too much free noise for our lad to fire under cover of. While we might be able to keep one murder quiet, we can't cope with any more. Gonna be the wrench."

He bent over the lawnmower as some of the customers approached the figures.

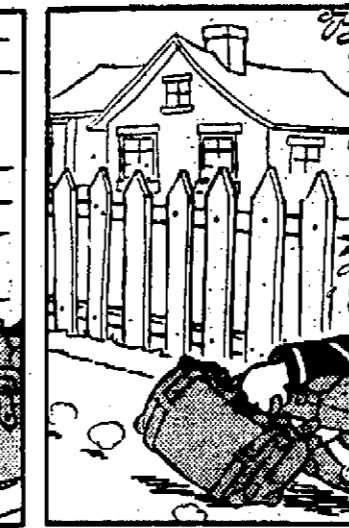

"Mornin'," he looked up and spoke to Jane. "Wonder if I could bring over that footstool for you in fix up? Do I hear that Mrs. Randall's gone to New York?"

The two local women in the group drank in the information.
"Glad to see the family," Jane said. "I'd be glad to tackle the footstool—on, and Mrs. Porter's things."

"I'll have to take 'em piecemeal," Ascy said—all this conversation had been previously arranged, "they're sort of breakable. An' need a lot of packin'. I'll be round for 'em. Thanks." He nodded towards Lane. "If he don't do a good job for you, let me know. So long."

MISERY LOVES COMPANY

Hollywood Sights And Sounds

By Robin Coons
By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—The man in blackface stood first on one foot, then the other, moaning. Did those days of his ache? Had he just had a work-out with that mad Russian, the czar with the whip, Mr. Gregory Ratoff? Had he just made, under Meester Ratoff's goadings, about 12 pictures in the last two days?

He had. Al Jolson was emphatic about that.
"And I wouldn't do it again," he vowed, "for $30,000."

He was talking about his return, to films, after nearly four years, in the new "Rose of Washington Square." He came back, he said, to get it out of his system—and he's amazed at the results. The social results, he elaborated.

"Why, Jolson is getting invited places again," he exclaimed. "It's funny—when you're in, they want you everywhere. When you're not in pictures, they don't see you. Why, I've even been invited to the academy awards dinner. They've got to have me there to make them happy. Funny thing, huh?"

THIS Jolson, who is going on 53, still has more vitality and push than most of the people he works with. He talks with a nervous enthusiasm that spouts forth with gestures of white-gloved hands.
He is at his best in scenes of the type he had just been doing when I cornered him—scenes in the story relating the birth of the original "stooge." Blackface Al was on stage before an audience of select extras in the "Winter Garden theater," and Heckler Hobart Cavanaugh in a box was giving him a working over. The exchange of quips was pretty funny—but not nearly so funny as that between Director Ratoff and Star Jolson. At these latter the "extra" audience didn't have to be told to laugh, and Jolson with an audience is a Jolson supreme. The cracks whip out, sparkling.

Director Ratoff ("the best show on earth") was gibing at Al for this offstage patter, saying: "You wait, Al, until after 7 o'clock—then you can be funny all you like for these people!"
"Yeah—and you keep 'em here past seven and you buy 'em dinner—and you take the check!" cracked Al.

Can't Weigh Hog

Burlington, Vt. (AP)—Frederick Nichols just can't weigh his Chester white hog. It's too big to get through the gate of its pen. The Otsego county farmer estimated the two-year-old animal's avoirdupois at more than 1,200 pounds and says it's still growing. It stands 44 inches high and is six feet, seven inches long. Unlike most such weighty hogs, it readily stands on its own feet.

Atharhacton Club
Studies Columnists

The lives and works of well known columnists were reviewed at the regular meeting of the Atharhacton Club yesterday.

Mrs. Kingman, who presented the paper for the afternoon, chose four of the better known columnists for her review: O. O. McIntyre, Walter Winchell, Heywood Brown and Westbrook Pegler. O. O. McIntyre, who died last year, was considered the dean of all metropolitan columnists, having written since 1912. His column, "New York Day by Day," was printed in 508 papers daily and it has been estimated that approximately 7,000,000 people read his articles. At the time of his death he was receiving 75 cents per word.

A following equalling that of O. O. McIntyre's is estimated for Walter Winchell, professional gossip monger for the New York Daily Mirror and popular radio personality. Winchell has been credited with restoring the interest of the New York reader in names, proving the old newspaper adage that names make news. In this particular type of column, it is important not to say anything that might give grounds for a libel suit. Mr. Winchell has protected himself by coining original words and phrases in which there are no loopholes. His stories are carefully checked by his paper every day as an added precaution against libel suits.

The lives of Westbrook Pegler, whose column "Fair Enough" appears with Heywood Brown's "It Seems To Me" in the New York World Telegram were also briefly reviewed by Mrs. Kingman.

It was decided at this meeting to study miscellaneous subjects during the coming year and that each member may choose any subject that she desires. It was also announced that an open meeting will be held March 22 at the Huntington and each member will have the privilege of inviting a guest.

"Y. W." Board Entertained

The Board of Directors of the Y. W. C. A. was entertained at a dinner last evening in the local "Y" by the Business Girl's Club. So clear is the desert air that the "mountains on the moon" can be seen with the naked eye at night from a desert camp only 35 miles from Cairo. "Cornice" Style Clever, Easy Delightful are these sheer dainty curtains topped with a "cornice"—which is really just a straight piece of goods shirred on two drapery rods and perkily trimmed with ribbons!

What materials? Lovely for both curtains and "cornice" is white net dotted with blue, ribbon trimming of a matching blue. Or what do you think of all yellow dotted Swiss, accented with green ribbons?

Let the strip for the "cornice" be about 14 inches deep, to allow for frills and rod casings. For fullness make strip half again as wide as the window. Sew ribbon along edges of frills and along rod casings as shown in diagram. At the center of each row, of ribbon—a jaunty bow.

Simple to make the curtains, do a neat job by following professional tips. If using net or gauze cut with pencil marks as a guide. With other materials pull straight. How to adjust your material according to your window width, how to sew, finish, hang? You'll find complete, easy-to-follow instructions, diagrams in

MODES of the MOMENT

Copper haze comes to Fifth Avenue in a pleated wool crepe frock and a sailor trimmed with a smoke blue chou. They were shown recently with a beige fox bolero at a fashion pageant at the New York Ritz.

Man About Manhattan

By George Tucker

NEW YORK—When you consider the number of her imitators and the almost reverent hush that falls over a room, even a room infested with jitter-bugs, when she sings, you must admit that Bea Wain is the most distinctive girl vocalist in America today.

This is Bea Wain, the "Reverie" girl, who sings with Larry Clinton's orchestra, and her case is an interesting one because not many people knew about Bea Wain a year ago. She used to sing with the Kay Thompson rhythm singers—she was one of 13 girls—and she used to sing with the Kate Smith choir, and while there is never much glory attached to singing in a chorus, you learn a lot.

It was probably this experience that taught her to enunciate so clearly, and that was fortunate, because her enunciation is one reason she is the most talked-of girl singing with a band today.

I CAN hear her sing a song once and remember the lyrics. She says that sometimes listening to her records she wonders if she doesn't emphasize the syllables a little too much. I don't think so. People like to know what a song is saying, and after you hear her sing a ballad you think she has written you a letter.

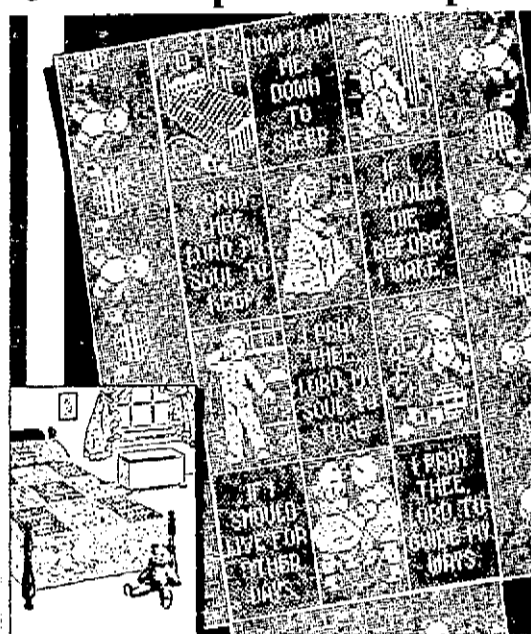

I think Bea Wain is very fortunate to be with Larry Clinton because his arrangements are always distinctive and he also seems to have an option on the ability to write just the right song for her at the right moment. And by the same token, I think Larry Clinton is lucky in having Bea Wain, because a vocalist is just as important as any of the instrumentalists, and when you've got the best there is you've got a lot to be thankful for.

By the way, what do you think of Clinton's new ballad, "Our Love"? For the title and theme he took the first two words of the "Reverie" lyric and went on from there. It is a lovely, haunting thing and it hangs in your memory like the scent of a strange, beautiful flower.

BUT WE were talking about Bea Wain, weren't we. In private life she is married to Andre Baruch, the radio announcer. They met while she was still singing harmonies with the girl choruses. One day Baruch, who is French, happened to recite his full name, which is Andre Bernard Jean Jacques Rousseau Octavien Le Troisieme Baruch de la Pardo. Sometime later a discussion of names came up and Beatrice (it hadn't been shortened to Bea then) suggested that Baruch's name wasn't so tough to remember. To prove it she rattled it off without a mistake, and Baruch was so fascinated he asked her to marry him. Thus does romance blossom in the studios.

About this time someone called her and said he was making a recording in the morning and would she come down and make it with him. He had heard her do various bits on the air and liked the way she handled her syllables. She said she supposed she would, but what did he say his name was anyway? He said his name was Larry Clinton, and she said "All right, Mr. Clinton, I'll be there." And she was. And still is.

Name It, Youth Has It to Sell

Boy Repairs Bikes, Treats Ailing Pets and Goes To School, Too.

CLEVELAND.—Busy Benny Kaufman, 16-year-old business man, goes to school, operates a store, repairs bicycles, sells old magazines, cares for ailing pets, supports himself and gives excess profits to his father.

In his store the young man, who has accepted no money from his parents since he was 10, sells white rats, razor blades, white mice, toothbrushes, statuary, perfume, pigeons, work gloves, wallets and dials for cigar lighters.

"I also have," said Benny, ringing up a sale, "bath salts, furniture polish, lovebirds, dog harness, hair tonic, goldfish—the best, and only 10 cents—bicycles, talcum powder, electric light bulbs, and bird cages."

Benny said that if that doesn't include what the customer wants, he can get it for him.

Expert Cycle Repairer.
His ability to repair bicycles is attested to by all the riders in the neighborhood.

"Why, he can take the worst bike," said one customer, who had dropped in to have a flat tire repaired, "and when he gets it fixed it's better than a new one."

The pet shop has been flourishing since September 30, 1937.

"I started with $5 and two white rats," Benny said, beaming.

Seven months after the opening of the pet shop, he added the bicycle business and operated it in the basement of his home.

Three months later the used-magazine business was incorporated and a little later the specialties were added.

The customers range in age from "4 to 70, not including my little 3-year-old brother Howard. He comes in all the time wanting mice to play with."

Bicycle Business Grows.

The bicycle business also was started with $5 capital.

"Now," Benny said, "it's worth $150."

Benny goes to school until 12:45. He gets to his store at 1 p. m. and remains until 9 in the evening.

When he isn't there, his father takes charge.

Young Kaufman was not always in business for himself.

"For years," he said, "I worked for others before I found out how much better it is to work for yourself."

He prefaced his present experience by working in a butcher shop, and after that operated a weight-guessing concession at the Great Lakes exposition.

"I guessed 'em, too," Benny said. "I think my butcher-shop experience helped me there."

Ancient English Farmers Had Little Use for Cash

In 1137, eight hundred years ago, according to records that have been handed down, an Englishman could stock a moderate-sized farm for the equivalent of $50 in present day currency.

The majority of farmers in those far-off days were serfs, and even the man who rented land from the baron was scarcely one degree above slavery, relates a writer in the New Zealand Dairy Reporter.

The rent of pasture land in several parts of England appears to have averaged about two cents per acre per annum, while choice arable land was usually about sixpence an acre. Documents are extant showing that the best draught horses were selling around 75 cents a head and oxen at $1.30.

At a sale in the time of Henry II (1133-1189) three draught horses, six oxen, 20 cows and 200 sheep realized a total of $47. A little before that period wheat was sold at 40 cents a quarter ton, but in one year it is recorded as being as high as five dollars a quarter. Some idea of values may be gained from the fact that the lord mayor of London paid $4.90 a year rent for his mansion in the city, and the assistant clerk of parliament received a salary of $60 a year. Even as late as the reign of Queen Elizabeth, cheese was sold at 4 cents a pound, and the charge at the leading inns in London for a bed for a night seldom exceeded two cents, while a substantial dinner could be had for 12 cents. Farm laborers were paid about two cents and in harvest time four cents a day. While farmers were kept on the poverty line by the landlords, the middlemen who dealt in their produce, particularly wool, frequently made large fortunes.

In the year 1664, Thomas Guyon, a rich weaver, left $500,000, which he amassed solely by trade. Considering the value of money in those days, that sum must have been deemed princely wealth.

WHY TAKE CHANCES WITH HEAD COLDS?

If you feel a head cold coming on—take no chances—call a doctor at once. He will probably suggest a light liquid diet and ask you to bed. Only Nature can cure a cold and you can help Nature best by getting plenty of rest.

To rest successfully, you should be able to breathe freely through your nose. Here's a simple thing that will help ease your breathing and thus promote rapid sleep. If your nose is stopped up with mucus, use a cold, cold, cold pack of Mentholatum at any drug store. Put some in each nostril and sniff it up as far as you can. Mentholatum is a mild, cooling, curative containing menthol, camphor and eucalyptus. It stays put in your nose and gives off strong vapors for hours. This action helps to open up your breathing passages and soothes the rawness inside your nose. If your cold is "farther down", rub a liberal quantity on neck, throat and chest.

Remember, don't take chances with head colds—call a doctor at once. They get some prescriptions to help relieve head colds. Used by millions for over 40 years. In jars and tubes, at all drug stores—only 30¢.

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Johnson (above) and Mr. and Mrs. Odell Brand face bigamy charges following an alleged "wife swapping" deal which also involved two children, 80 acres of land and a span of mules. Authorities said Johnson married Mrs. Brand and Brand married Mrs. Johnson the same day the women obtained divorce decrees, not permitting re-marriage for 60 days. The couples made their homes in Russellville, Ala.

Ray Places Charge Against Parker

Edwin Lindhurst, 24, of 109 Hone street, was arrested shortly after 5 o'clock Wednesday afternoon by William T. Ray, a negro of New Paltz, who charged Lindhurst with illegal parking of his car on Lucas avenue, near Forsyth Park. Mr. Ray alleged that Mr. Lindhurst had parked his car more than three feet from the curb.

As a result of the alleged illegal parking Mr. Ray claimed that he had struck the rear of the Lindhurst car, and had done considerable damage to his own car as a result of the crash. This morning in police court Lindhurst explained to Judge

Mingo that owing to the banks of snow on both sides of the street it was impossible to park his car at the curb.

Judge Mingo discharged Lindhurst.

Meaning of Word 'Montage'
"Montage" is a French word meaning "selling" or "putting together." In motion pictures it is the section of a film story showing an uninterrupted episode without time lapses, titles, or breaks in action. For instance, the lapse of time may be shown by the falling of leaves to depict the change of seasons, or the turn of calendar leaves to denote the passing of days and months. As Americanized, it is pronounced montage, the "o" as in word mongrel and the "a" as in stage, accent on the first syllable.

DIPLOMATIC MISHAP AT WHITE HOUSE

Driving into the White House grounds in Washington, the automobile of Sir Donald Lindsay (right), British ambassador, figured in a collision with another car and came out second best with a crumpled rear fender. Sir Ronald is shown driving away with his guest, Lord Harlech, whom he had just presented to President Roosevelt.

Local Firemen Attend Funeral

The Kingston representatives, besides those named, were William McElrath, Wright Maines, Howard Myer, Harold Sanford, Edward Noble, Clarence Malnes, Harry Richter, Joseph Diach, Joseph Cornelsker and James Britt.

Civics Students Study Government

This afternoon the members of the civics class of the Kingston High School met at the city hall for the opening session of the school in civics government. The students were welcomed by Mayor C. J. Heiselman, who spoke briefly on civics government, and the students then took up the actual study of government, meeting with the heads of the various city departments.

The closing session will be held on Friday afternoon from 1 to 3 o'clock.

Later the students will hold an election at the high school to elect members of the class to the office of mayor and other city officials.

Following the election, in which voting machines will be used, the date for Student Government Day will be fixed, at which time the student mayor and student officials will take over the government of the city for a day.

Dried beef will keep better if stored in a covered glass jar in the refrigerator rather than wrapped in parchment or waxed paper.

Employee on Farm Sues for Wages

Andrew M. Ronk of Clintondale brings an action in supreme court to recover under an alleged contract, wages from Dr. H. A. Benson of Poughkeepsie. He alleges that he was hired as foreman of the Benson farm at Clintondale for a year at $60 per month but that after he had worked for a time he became involved in an argument with Mrs. Benson and as a result severed his relations with the doctor as foreman but agreed to remain for the balance of the term as a laborer at $2 a day.

The contract, he claims, was entered into on November 1, 1937, and says he acted as foreman until January 19, 1938, when following an argument with Mrs. Benson he entered into a new agreement. The terms of the agreement he said was for one year. In addition to being paid $48 a month he was to have his firewood and a quart of milk per day.

Mr. Ronk claims that about January 25, 1938, he was discharged by Dr. Benson and he now seeks to recover the balance of his wages for the year as well as a sum which he had to pay for milk and fuel. He brings his action for the amount of wages due, less certain "monies" which he earned during the year as a day laborer for other parties.

Michael Nardone appears for the plaintiff and William A. Mulvey for the defendant.

The defendant alleges that the plaintiff has been paid for all services rendered. He charges that there was a dispute and that Ronk said the defendant could get another man if dissatisfied with his services, and that he would remain on the farm until such time as a new man was secured. On that agreement another man was secured, the defendant claims.

Charges are made by the defendant that Mr. Ronk abused stock on the farm and that it was this which started the argument. Mr. Mulvey said that he would prove during the case that not only has Ronk sued Dr. Benson but also Mrs. Benson and the party occupying the farm for defamation of character.

It is charged that Mr. Ronk reported a calf dead and asked about disposing of it and that a resident on the farm went to the barn and found the calf was not dead. An attempt was made to tie the calf but it eventually died. Mr. Mulvey claims the employment of Ronk was not for any term and that payment has been made for every day which he worked. He told the jurors that witnesses would be called to prove that it was abuse of cattle that caused the dispute between Mr. Ronk and Mrs. Benson and others on the property.

Justice Schrick made no additions to the day calendar and excused jurors not engaged until Monday at 10 o'clock.

New Deal Wary About Any Basic Changes

Washington, March 16 (AP).—Although some revision of business taxes appears highly probable this spring, there were strong indications today that the administration's drive to stimulate business activity would stop short of nullifying any New Deal fundamentals.

This was the generally accepted interpretation of the securities commission's rejection late yesterday of proposals for a stock exchange committee for drastic modification of federal securities regulations.

Sec. Chairman Douglas told reporters that the proposals, in terms of business improvement, were "a phoney" and that to open the doors "so the boys up there can have another party isn't going to help at all."

Plunket to Leave County Board Job

Thomas J. Plunket, who has been stenographer to the Ulster County Board of Elections for some time, is to resign his position. The resignation has not yet been received by the board but this morning he intimated that it would be sent in for action perhaps today.

Pressure of private business is the reason for his resignation. Since the commencement of the Lackawack reservoir by the city of New York Mr. Plunket has had a large number of the claims of property holders against the city of New York.

It is understood that Harry J. Finger, of Saugerties, an active member of the Democratic party in that town, will succeed to the $1,600 a year position. Mr. Finger for many years was connected with the Saugerties-New York Steamboat Company.

Local Hadassah Host to Visitors

The Kingston Chapter of Junior Hadassah was host Monday night to the Poughkeepsie unit at a joint meeting in celebration of the first anniversary of the house units inception. Miss Lutzin presided at a short business meeting and then welcomed the guests. Miss Lutzin was elected to attend the New York state convention to be held this week-end in Buffalo as the local Junior Hadassah delegate.

Miss Beatrice Spiegel, chairman of the arrangements committee, opened the evening's festivities. A group of popular melodies were sung in Hadassah parody by Ida Epstein, Rose and Sarah Silverberg, Ida Spelman, Blanche Cherrick, Claire Reiter, Beatrice Spiegel, Sylvia Siller and Esther Goldman, accompanied by Helen Kline.

Following the singing the speaker of the evening, Mrs. F. Spodick, was introduced, and spoke to the group on the work of Youth Aliyah and explained that only through wholesale organization can this work be accomplished. The work, strangely was born in Germany through the efforts of Miss Henrietta Zold. It was Miss Zold who formulated plans for the immigration of boys and girls to Palestine.

During the first year hundreds of young people were sent to Palestine and placed in cooperative houses where they were first taught the language and then occupations. The cost for this work is about $360 and is raised by individual subscription and Senior and Junior Hadassah contributions. Youth Aliyah through this work of rescue and rehabilitation of Jewish life has planted the seeds of a future Jewish state in Palestine. Moving pictures of this work were shown at the conclusion of the talk.

A buffet supper was then served, completing the evening's festivities.

Green Relishes

Every homemaker likes to plan her Saint Patrick's menu about a green color scheme; but many homemakers forget the wonders that can be wrought with green food coloring—pastes, liquids or crystals. Cream cheese may be tinted for salads. Gelatin salads may be given a deeper hue. Cake fillings, batters and icings all turn green under the wizardry of its magic charm. And pale fruits become emerald bright when tinted with green coloring. Pears, pineapple, peaches and apples are especially colorful when tinted and all may be flavored with mint to make a harmony of color and flavor. Once tinted, these fruits make ideal relishes, garnishes, salads or desserts. One mustn't forget nature's relishes originally blessed with this magic color—green olives, gherkins, sliced pickles. All honor the Patron Saint of Ireland!

SHAMROCK SALAD

1 to 2 cups diced chicken, ½ cup diced celery, 2 hard cooked eggs, diced, ¼ cup minced pimiento, 2 cups chicken broth, free from fat, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, ½ cup cold water, 1 tablespoon plain gelatine, ½ teaspoon salt. Soak the gelatine in cold water for five minutes, then add to broth which has been heated to boiling point. Add salt and lemon juice. When the mixture has cooled slightly, combine with remaining ingredients and pour into a mold that has been rinsed with cold water. Chill and serve frosted with gelatine mayonnaise, made by adding 1 teaspoon unflavored gelatine (softened in 2 tablespoons cold water, and dissolved over hot water) to 1 cup mayonnaise. Chill slightly and as it thickens smooth it over the molded loaf. Garnish with pineapple, cherries and pimiento "shamrocks" as illustrated. Leftover meats, ham, veal, lamb, or even salmon, may be substituted for the chicken. If stock is not available, use canned bouillon or bouillon cubes. Serves 7.

ST. PATRICK'S CAKE

2 cups sifted cake flour, 2 teaspoons double-acting baking powder, ¼ teaspoon salt, 1/3 cup margarine, 1 cup granulated sugar, 1 egg, unbeaten, ¾ cup milk, 1 teaspoon vanilla and green food coloring.

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt, and sift together three times. Cream margarine, add sugar gradually, and cream until light and fluffy. Then add egg and beat well. Add flour alternately with milk, a small amount at a time, beating after each addition until smooth. Add vanilla. Pour half of batter into mixing bowl and tint green with food coloring. Bake in two greased 8-inch layer pans in moderate oven (375°F.) 25 minutes. Cool. Ice with green-tinted icing.

Pears for Pie

Pear pie is fast becoming a second to apple pie in preference by the menfolks. The only trouble seems to be that homemakers don't make pear pies often enough. Like many homemakers, you may from force of habit make the old standbys: apple, cherry, berry, lemon or chocolate pie. Why not resolve today to make bigger and better pear pies—and make them more frequently. Here's a new recipe to help you carry out that resolution:

PEAR PIE DELUXE

Make a flaky crust, adding ½ teaspoon sugar. Place lower crust in pan. Peel, quarter and slice fresh pears, filling the pan well. Add 1 cup sugar, 1/3 cup water, and generous amount of ginger, cinnamon or nutmeg. Dot with bits of butter, cover with top crust and bake in oven (375°F.) 30 minutes. Serve warm with cheese.

SPANISH MACARONI CASSEROLE

½ pound macaroni, ¼ pound grated or diced cheese, ½ cup diced celery, 2 medium onions, chopped, 1 can whole tomatoes, 2 tablespoons chopped green pepper, 3 tablespoons butter, 2 cups medium white sauce, salt and pepper to taste.

Cook onion, green pepper and celery in butter until tender. Cook macaroni in boiling salted water until tender, then drain. Combine macaroni and cooked onion mixture, arrange in baking dish with alternate layers of cheese and tomatoes. Season and pour white sauce over it. Cover and bake 30 minutes in moderate oven (350°F.). Serves 6.

STEAK WITH ROSY ONIONS

Preheat broiler very hot. Season steak and place on rack 3-inches from flame. Average cooking time for 2-inch steak is about 15 to 20 minutes on each side. Spread with butter and serve with rosy onion rings prepared as follows:

Boil 4 beets and drain off 2/3 cup of liquid. Add to it 2 tablespoons sugar, ½ teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons vinegar, and heat. Pour hot liquid over onion rings and let stand over low flame 10 minutes before serving. Branded steaks are your assurance of quality.

Bulletin Features Trophy Building

The trophy building erected last summer on his summer place in the town of Rochester for Howard C. Sykes of Englewood, N. J., and the notable private collection of specimens of African wild life which it houses, have furnished the material for stories and illustrations in several prominent publications.

One of the latest appears in the winter issue of the Central Hudson Bulletin. Several handsome illustrations accompany an excellent "write-up" of the experience of Mr. Sykes, accompanied by Mrs. Sykes and their two children, Walter, 16, and Howard, Jr., 14, on their safari into the big game regions of Africa in the summer of 1937.

There is a picture of the trophy building, which is a reproduction of an old Dutch stone house, also pictures of different parts of the trophy room, showing many of the something like 100 specimens of wild life which have been collected here. Trophies range from the ferocious rhinoceros to the tiny dikdik, smallest antelope in the world. Among the trophies shown is a world-record black maned lion, secured by the two Sykes boys.

The Sykes trophy building is constructed of native stone, taken from an old stone house, which formerly for long years stood along the road not far from the Sykes home in Rochester. Teller and Halverson were the architects who closely supervised every detail of construction, including the placing of stones to duplicate as nearly as practical the masonry of the house from which they came. It is a notable example of the work being done by this firm, who are specialists in this type of architecture and construction.

Economists calculate that industrial production the first of 1939 would have to be 150 per cent of the 1923-25 average to give full employment to all available workers.

Says Unemployment Relief Doesn't Relieve

An example of unsatisfactory working of the unemployment relief scheme was given by a caller at The Freeman office a day or so ago. Employed last summer at one of the mountain houses, especially in connection with electrical work, he notified the unemployment bureau following the completion of his work November 3.

He states that he has called at the bureau office weekly, 16 times, since November 3, but so far has received no satisfaction, being told each time to report again the next week. Meanwhile he has had no employment, nor any remuneration, although, as he says, deduction was made regularly during the summer from his pay to cover just such emergency.

England's king and queen may or may not visit New York when they come to this country next spring. Nevertheless, New York has entertained three princes who later became king of England. Because they were so recent, the two visits of the Prince of Wales, who became King Edward VIII, are well remembered. Before him was his grandfather, Albert Edward, Prince of Wales, who became King Edward VII. The first royal visitor was Prince William Henry who later became the Duke of Clarence and then King Henry IV. He didn't come as a prince but as a midshipman on one of His Majesty's warships. That was back in 1762 when England didn't exactly acknowledge the independence of this country. So Colonel Matthias, of Ogden of the American army, originated a plan to kidnap the prince and Admiral Digby, in command of the British fleet in North American waters. George Washington approved the plan but for some reason no attempt was made to carry it out.

The visit of Albert Edward, Prince of Wales, 19-year-old son of Queen Victoria, back in 1860, had the whole town in an uproar. He was received at Castle Gardens, saw the aquarium, by the mayor, the common council and the entire First division of the National Guard. There was also just about a unanimous turnout of the population of the city, thousands paying from 50 cents to $5 for places along the line of march, which led from the Battery to the prince's hotel at Fifth Avenue and Twenty-third street. The greeters went through with their part of the program all right but they took so long about it that darkness fell before the parade started. New York's street lighting system wasn't what it is now so that even those in the $5 seats saw only dim lines of moving figures.

The night after the arrival of the prince and his party, there was a grand ball in the Academy of Music Irving place. It was quite a formal affair, women being advised to wear bonnets. Men were told to wear uniforms if they had any. If not, black trousers, black dress coat, black waistcoat and white cravat or white waistcoat and black cravat. Three thousand citizens were invited. About 3,000 more crashed the gate. When the crowd stood still with an "elbow in every rib and a foot on every toe," as one reporter wrote, the floor wavered. When the music started, a section gave away and disappeared and it took two hours of earnest carpenter work to make repairs. Then the party went on and the prince danced with several American girls.

Maybe there is no connection between royalty and the Social Register. On the other hand, there may be because the latest issue of that record of those who belong omits the name of the Duchess of Windsor, the name of Countess Barbara Hulme, Midwani Haugwitz-Reventlow is also out. A name omitted for the first time this year is that of Richard Whitney. He is the Wall street whose present address is Sing Sing. The name of Ben Broeck Terhune is also among the missing Mr. Terhune is in Sing Sing serving a term of from one and a half to three years for a matter involving $75,000 worth of jewelry.

Other omissions this year include ay Carlisle, who married the blonde show girl Marcelle Edwards, who was the fourth Mrs. Tommy manville, and Davis Ryan, scion of the copper fortune, who married
 Martha Barkley down in North Carolina, and who claimed the wedding as the result of corn liquor. The name of Polly Lauder, omitted after he became the bride of Gene Tun-nesy, prizefighter, has not yet made reappearance.

Just as a sort of a letdown—and because of the need of a few more ones—this bit overheard in a night spot: "He's been up the river so many times they call him Showboat."

Beddar Traces History Into the Forgotten Past

Situated on the Great Western highway about 29 miles from Bristol where the Venetian John Cabot and his son Sebastian sailed forth in 1497 in the good ship "Matthew" to discover the mainland of North America), Cheddar traces its history back into a forgotten past. Its name is derived from the old Gaelic word "cedr," meaning "prominent brow, height," and "dwr," meaning
"water," says the Detroit News. Located on the River Ched, this ancient town glorifies the letter "c."
Castles, and cliffs; caves and caverns; and the chasm; the Gothic church, and the 200-year-old Marble Cross; cabbages and cider.

The limestone hills to the east of Cheddar are pierced by the famous gorge, with cliffs rising sheer 450 ft above its dry river-bed. Dry, the streams that flow in this limestone region are subterranean, honeycombing the hills with fantastic stalactite caves. Clothed for the most part in a growth of ivy, mountain ash and yew, the Cheddar Gorge presents the finest scene of its kind in the British Isles.

Be it good or bad, we are over-d for doing it.

MONTGOMERY WARD

Fuehrer Proclaims Areas for Reich

foundations of reasonable central European order and proclaim decrees accordingly.

Germany already has proven in its 1,000-year-old historical past that, by reason of its size and the characteristics of the German nation, it alone is predestined to solve these problems.

Filled with an earnest desire to serve the true interests of the peoples dwelling in this living space, to safeguard the national and individual characteristics of the German and Czech peoples, to serve the peace and social welfare of all, I therefore decree in the name of the German Reich as the basis for the future cooperation of the inhabitants of this territory the following:

First—Those lands of the former Czechoslovak republic which were occupied by German troops in March of 1939 belong henceforth to the territory of the greater Reich and come under its protection as "protektorates of Bohemia and Moravia." Insofar as the delivery of the Reich demands, the Fuehrer will decree regulations for individual sections of this area.

Second—German inhabitants of the protectorate become German subjects and, under the stipulations of the Reich's citizenship law of September, 1935, they become citizens.

Accordingly, provisions for the protection of German blood and German honor also apply to them. They are under the jurisdiction of German laws and courts.

Remaining inhabitants of Bohemia and Moravia are made subjects of the protectorate of Bohemia and Moravia.

Third—The protectorate of Bohemia and Moravia is autonomous and administers its own affairs. It exercises sovereign rights appearing to a protectorate in harmony with the political, military and economic needs of the Reich.

Fourth—The supreme head of the autonomous administration of the protectorate of Bohemia and Moravia enjoys the protection and honors accorded a head of state.

For execution of the duties of his office, the supreme head of the protectorate must enjoy the confidence of the Fuehrer and chancellor.

Fifth—As guardian of the Reich's interests, the Fuehrer names a Reich's protector in Bohemia and Moravia. His official seat is Prague. This Reich's protector, as representative of the Fuehrer and as commissioner of the Reich's government, has the task of seeing to the observance of the guiding political policy of the Fuehrer.

The members of the government of the protectorate will be subject to confirmation by the Reich's protector. Confirmation can be withdrawn.

The Reich's protector is empowered to ask for reports on all measures of the government of the protectorate and to give advice to it.

May Veto Measures
He may veto measures which calculate to do harm to the Reich and, if danger looms, to issue orders necessary in the common interest.

Promulgation of laws, decrees and other legal regulations, as well as the execution of administrative measures and legally binding court judgments, must be withheld if the Reich's protector vetoes them.

Sixth—Foreign affairs of the protectorate, especially the protection of its subjects in foreign countries, are under the care of the Reich. The Reich will conduct foreign affairs in such a manner as they will harmonize with common interests.

The protectorate is accorded one representative accredited to the Reich's government with the title of minister.

Seventh—The Reich accords the protectorate military protection. In accordance with this protection, the Reich maintains garrisons for military establishments within the protectorate.

Its Own Formations
For safeguarding domestic security and order, the protectorate may set up its own formations. The organization and its strength in numbers and arms are determined by the Reich's government.

Eighth—The Reich has direct supervision over communications and transportation, as well as the postal, telegraph and telephone service.

Ninth—The protectorate belongs to the customs territory of the German Reich and is under the jurisdiction of the Reich's customs authorities.

Tenth—Legal tender until further notice will be the Reichsmark and the crown. The Reich's government will determine their relative value.

Eleventh—The Reich may issue legal regulations for the protectorate insofar as common interests demand. Insofar as mutual needs exist, the Reich may take over parts of the administration and for that purpose set up necessary Reich's authorities.

Security and Order
The Reich's government is empowered to put into effect measures necessary for maintenance of security and order.

Twelfth—Laws now prevailing in Bohemia and Moravia remain in force insofar as they do not counter to the spirit of the German Reich as protector of the territory.

Thirteenth—The Reich's minister of interior, in agreement with the Reich's ministers concerned, will issue the legal and administrative orders necessary for executing and implementing this decree.

(The decree was signed by Hitler, Wilhelm Frick, minister of interior; Joachim von Ribbentrop, foreign minister; and Dr. Hans Friedrich Lammers, chief of the Reichschancellery.)

Pope Receives Cardinal

Vatican City, March 16 (AP)—Pope Pius XII received Cardinal Kaspar, Archbishop of Prague, in private audience this morning. He was believed to have discussed German occupation of Bohemia with the pontiff, although the Czech cardinal's call presumably was also to say farewell before returning to his see, now that the coronation ceremonies are over.

Two of the National League's prominent southpaws, Milburn Shoffner, of the Bees, and Lee Grissom, of the Reds, were born in the same town, Sherman, Tex., north of Dallas near the Oklahoma line.

Financial and Commercial

Foreign Situation Affects Market

The situation in Czechoslovakia, which up to yesterday apparently had not seriously affected the market, assumed more importance yesterday as the dismemberment of the country was practically completed and Hitler's troops occupied Moravia and Bohemia. In London the general uncertainty resulted in restricted trading and losses in leading shares, as the London Times industrial average lost over a point and stocks broke further in street dealings following the close of the London and Amsterdam exchanges. A statement by British Foreign Minister Halifax said that Hitler's move was bound to check confidence, while Foreign Minister Chamberlain's answer to Hitler's coup was to cancel the Trade Ministers' visit to Berlin and suspend Bank of England credit to Czechoslovakia.

In New York stocks suffered the sharpest setback in several weeks as losses of one to four points were recorded in early trading, with the tape several minutes behind floor transactions. The pace slackened in later trading and no further ground was lost. At the close of the day industrial averages showed a loss of 3.44 point over Tuesday's close, being down to 147.65. Rails were off 1.20 point, to 31.55 and utilities declined 0.70 point, to 25.50. Transactions totaled 1,110,000 shares, vs. 690,000 Tuesday, with heaviest trading in the second hour when half a million shares changed hands.

The Securities and Exchange Commission took prompt action on the recommendations of the committee representing national securities exchanges, completely rejecting the major recommendations as opposed to the interests of the investor. Chairman Douglas of the SEC characterized the report as a "phony," so far as business recovery is concerned. Commission officials said, however, that the action did not imply any change in the SEC's attitude towards cooperation with exchanges.

The SEC has approved plan of United Corp. to invest $8,000,000 in non-utility securities and reduce interest in subsidiaries. Electric output took a sharp rise last week, the total of 2,207,935,000 kwh. being 11.1 per cent over the same week in 1938.

Bridgeport Machine with net preceding year of $329,685, or $1.90 a share. Arnold Constable, net of $286,174, vs. net of $253,336. Niles-Bement-Pond, net of $844,007, or $4.23 a share, vs. net in 1937 of $1,230,834, or $7.46 a share.

All Old English Plate

Carries Mark of Quality
Every genuine piece of old English plate, which is another term for solid silver, carries documentary evidence of its place of manufacture, its mark of quality, the date of its manufacture and the name of the maker.

This comprehensive system of marking has been in effect since the establishment of the Goldsmith's guild in 1300, relates Alice R. Rollins in the Los Angeles Times. The purpose was to protect the public against fraud by stamping with a steel mark, or punch, all gold and silver plate. Of the many marks adopted throughout England, that of the London guild is the one most commonly found.

Toward the end of the Fourteenth century other cities in England were privileged to set up assay offices and a mark was added distinctive of the city where the silver was assayed. We have for example the thistle of Edinburgh, the anchor of Birmingham, and the crown of Sheffield.

Before a piece of silver is offered for sale by a silversmith, it must be assayed by the wardens of the guild. If the quality is satisfactory, it is stamped with the king's mark, a leopard's head. The leopard's head was crowned from early use down to 1838, when the figure of Britannia was substituted. It was restored in 1721, with the crown, and its use continued down to 1820. Other peculiarities about this "beastie" are that following 1820 and 1835, the uncrowned leopard was whiskered, but from 1836 to 1875, the face was bare. The whiskers were reintroduced in 1875.

Great Cathedrals in France
The four greatest Gothic cathedrals of France are in Paris—Notre Dame, Chartres, Reims, and Amiens. The Chartres cathedral is a marvelous example of Gothic architecture when it was at its zenith, and there have been additions to it and alterations since. The south spire, the Clocher Neuf, 351 feet high, was finished with the original structure; but the north spire, not completed until the Sixteenth century. The cathedral is 440 feet long, its choir measures 150 feet across, and the vaulting is 121 feet high. Its exterior buttressing, to support the interior vaulting, is essentially a feature of Gothic construction.

Rotary Club Hears Talk on Economics

Saying that economics as taught in colleges is generally regarded as a dull subject and does not show the student how either to make or keep a dollar—which after all he considered the important thing—K. W. Jappe told members of Rotary at their meeting in the Governor Clinton Hotel Wednesday noon that the subject was one that ought to be made most lively and interesting, and in his belief ought to be taught in the high schools.

Mr. Jappe, who is an industrial engineer connected with the Hercules Powder Co., Wilmington, Del., and who besides being a lecturer on economics at Stevens Institute, Hoboken, has had a long experience with many large concerns as an industrial engineer, talked very interestingly to the Rotarians on the subject of economic problems in management.

The remark referred to was in connection with a discussion of the point that in business cycles "the average industry makes little of its 'booms' and 'expansion' generally takes place at the top."

It is in the boom period that the business man who has accumulated a surplus through years of hard work, thrift and attention to details, is likely to lose all or much of what he had saved through miscalculation, or unwise expansion. The same thing was found true of the average man, who perhaps finds his $25 a week boosted to $50 and is led to take advantage of sudden prosperity by paying down 10 per cent on a $5,000 home. He does not realize, said the speaker, that he is spending $5,000, not $500 as he starts a credit cycle that affects many businesses concerned in building. Comes a cycle of depression and he not only finds himself in difficulties, but so also do those with whom his credit is involved.

The average man, it was said, goes into the market "at the top" and as a result "hundreds of thousands are kept poor" through their unwise and untimely investments.

"Prosperity is as abnormal as depression," said Mr. Jappe. Thus the general average for the steel company is around 60 per cent. It may go down to 18 or 20, or up to 100. At top production an oversupply is certain to accumulate and some time there must be a drop. Likewise, at the low point, in time comes scarcity and the trend eventually must be upward. The tendency is to expand at "the top of the market," only to find later that there are, perhaps, two expensive plants where only one is needed. The time to expand, it was said, was when things are dull—or, better yet, buy out some unwise competitor at 30 cents on the dollar.

The wise business man will recognize signs of either under or over-expansion, will classify his business as to its possibilities in the long run and will act accordingly. Change was seen as the only permanent thing, and constant watch must be kept for new demands, new methods and necessity of new location. There must be adequate provision for obsolescence and research points were the cotton mill established not long before the move started to take the cotton mills to the south; bulk oil stations that were built to receive service by the railroads and deliver short distances by horse drawn trucks, but are now served by tank steamers and pipe lines and deliver long distances by fast trucks. "Things that seem sound today may look foolish and antiquated in a few years," was the comment.

The growth, maturity and decline of industries must be considered. An example was indigo, once the principal export article from India, today supplanted by a synthetic product and is not even mentioned in the trade exports reports. There must be the ability to recognize the change of an article from a novelty to a staple. An example of this is the automobile. Thus the head of a concern who may have been the right man in the right place when promotional activity was needed may be out of place when an article becomes established, enters the competitive field and needs the direction of a man with business and manufacturing ability.

Human traits that adversely affect business management were noted. Among them were inertia, greed, fear; inability to turn down an order; speculative operation; tendency to carry things to extremes; thinking in tangents instead of in cycles.

Another trait was the tendency to misuse credit, which was described as "a blessing or a curse—to most people a curse." In this connection reference was made to the practice of borrowing in times of prosperity and then paying back in times of depression with dollars that have several times the purchasing power that the borrowed dollar had.

In conclusion Mr. Jappe spoke of the necessity for independent thinking and quoted a statement from Edison to the effect that "the average man will go to any length to avoid the effort of thinking."

Guests of Rotary Wednesday were Louis Schatz of Newburgh and William Phelps of Sidney.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisons out of the blood. Most people pass about 3 pints a day of about 3 pounds of waste.

Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging at backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of

Two Measures Now In Upper House

Albany, March 16 (Special)—The Assembly has passed, and sent to the Senate for concurrence, two bills introduced by Assemblyman J. Edward Conway of Kingston.

THINGS WERE LOOKING UP for the photographer who made this wide-angle view of Rockefeller Center in New York. The camera was pointed straight up, taking in 110 degrees. POPE'S CHOICE of a successor to Patrick Cardinal Hayes may fall to Bishop Stephen Donahue (above), administrator of N. Y. archdiocese, some Catholics believe.

HOMELESS now, Charles M. Schwab, 77, Bethlehem Steel chairman, grieves so for his wife that he has closed the chateau-like New York home where her funeral was held in January, as well as two other estates. "Now I have no home," he says.

'HITLER'S HEIR' has been chosen but no names are announced, said Capt. Fritz Wiedemann (above) soon after arrival in San Francisco where he's new Nazi consul general.

IT'S LOVE AT FIRST SIGHT between Billy Cowley of the Boston Bruins, National Hockey league champs, and the stick with which he smacked enough goals to become his team's leading scorer. And if endearing words help, that stick will help the Bruins beat the New York Rangers in the Stanley Cup play-off series between the league's two leading teams.

EVANGELINE SLEEPS, legend says, in this little Catholic churchyard at St. Martinville, La., where is buried Emmeline laBiche. Present-day Louisianans say she was the heroine of Longfellow's famous poem telling of the Acadians.

MAKING GOOD IN A SMALL WAY, this tiny olive siskin puts on a bell-ringing act for the benefit of its St. Louis owners, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur M. Donnelly. The bell is scaled down to the bird's size, which put it well into the junior class; the siskin is smaller than a canary, has a touch of temperament, and is a native of Mexico.

CATCHING THE 'HOT ONES' ought to be easy if the catcher's glove were as hefty as this one seems, in a wide-angle camera shot of Harold Spindel. He's an ambitious rookie catcher at the St. Louis Browns' camp in San Antonio.

KEEP AN EYE on Joseph "Greg" Rice, Notre Dame track star shown keeping an eye on a chalk-talk by Coach John F. Nicholson. With a fine past record, Rice is expected to give a good account of himself this season. Now a senior at Notre Dame, Rice went there from Missoula, Mont., where he was a good, high school miler.

A TWO-MILER'S TWO REASONS for track superiority get a going-over at Notre Dame gym by Assistant Trainer Hugh Burns, who's massaging the leg of Joseph "Greg" Rice, ace track man. Rice, who stands 5 feet 4 1/2 inches and who weighs 137 pounds, is track captain at Notre Dame. This winter when he defeated Don Lash in 9:07.6, he ran the season's second fastest two mile.

TULIP TIME in Manhattan doesn't hold much charm for Bobby Hetterly, who had to play nursemaid to two rare plants at the international flower show in New York's Grand Central. The tulips were grown by John Scheepers of New York.

LOVE LIVES ON, IN THE LEGENDS OF LOUISIANA'S QUIET EVANGELINE COUNTRY

EDEN OF LOUISIANA! Romance thus glides the Bayou Teche country near St. Martinville where the stores (as above) are humble and where the tragedy of Acadia and of Evangeline's separation from her lover, Gabriel, is retold by the old people. Legend says that the Acadians turned to this quiet refuge after their dispersal from Canada by the British.

TO THIS CHURCH in St. Martinville, La., where Emmeline laBiche is buried, come tourists eager to see the grave of a girl identified as the Evangeline of Longfellow's poem. Death ended her search for her long-lost lover.

Reds Upset Colonials 39-32; Van Alstyne-Armstrong Friday

Scoring Splurge In 3rd Gives Reds 1st Playoff Game

Game Sunday

Rabin, Spahn, Anderson Star for Jersey, Fleigel for Kingston—Next Meeting at Union City

That great scoring machine of Barney Sedran's, the Kingston Colonials who won the American League championship and that $1,000 bonus for taking 28 out of 35 games, cracked last night before approximately 800 basketball fans at the municipal auditorium where Muggsy Miller's Jersey Reds romped to a 39-32 victory in the first game of the playoff for the president's cup.

There was no stopping that great combination in the lineup which were two former Colonials who did their share and then some to upset the champs. Phil Rabin and Moe Spahn were those two scoring demons, and the other Gas House tossers who shared the shooting honors with them was Hagen Anderson. Each of them made 10 points.

Bernie Fleigel, Kingston's versatile center, collected 11 points for his night of labor on the court, but his efforts were not enough. He needed help, especially in the last period, but Nat Frankel, Sammy Kaplan, Carl Johnson and Pete Berenson just couldn't hit their stride. Their long shots went awry and the Jersey defense was so tight that the Colonials couldn't get near the basket with a can opener.

Colonials Lead Early

Kingston took a one point lead in the first period, 12-10, on two fields and nine fouls, five of the three ones being made by Kaplan. The Reds shot three deuces and caged six complimentary shots. In the second frame, the clubs battled it out on even terms turning in nine points apiece. Fleigel and Rabin earned what glory there was for scoring twice from scrimmage for their respective teams. In the last period, the Reds outshot the Colonials, 18-10 as Anderson featured with two sinkers and Benson and Spahn and Goldstein registered deuces, that were augmented by eight fouls. "Mickey" Fitzpatrick, going in as a substitute for Kaplan was the only Kingston player to score from the floor. He cut the cords twice. Other Colonial points came on six fouls, three of which were gleaned by Fleigel. Kingston's foul shooting, and that of the Reds too, for that matter was not up to par, the Colonials throwing away eight chances and the Gas House a like number. And, Kingston's work from the field in the shooting phase was far from the accurate brand the Sedranites showed in most of their league games. Many long shots rolled around the rim and dropped out, and there was no luck at the cut in game, as the Reds messed up one play after the other under the baskets.

Three Ties

Capitalizing on fouls in the first period, the Reds moved out in front 8-4 by virtue of shots by Rabin and Spahn, but Kaplan and Fleigel cut the lead and finally tied the tally at 9-9 as the frame drew to a close. Spahn's deuce and foul gave the Reds their 12, and Frankel, Kaplan and Johnson boosted the local score to 13. Twice during the second period, the score was tied, 15-15, by virtue of Frankel's one long deuce that went through the hoop, and the other time 20-20 on Goldstein's free toss after Kingston had taken a slight lead with Berenson, Kaplan and Frankel doing the tallying. This frame ended 22-21 in favor of the Colonials.

Reds Jump Ahead

Then came that hectic third period. The Reds got rougher and before the session was very old had rocketed into a 28-23 lead. From this point on, the visitors held command and only for those five points made by Fitzpatrick on his pair of sinkers and foul, the Colonials would have suffered worse than a seven point defeat, and there would have been greater wailing in the camp of the champions who were 8-5 favorites to win.

Now the Colonials await the second game scheduled for Sunday at Columbia Park, Union City, N. Y., home of the Miller cagers who count on making it two straight.

"They get good pay for their matches," she says, "but travel takes a lot of money. I'd say $2,500 a year clear would be pretty good."

Dolly thinks she can keep on taking it for four or five years. Then she wants to retire and buy a farm.
Up to now she has escaped with three broken ribs, a broken finger and a fracture of the nose.

Kingston Stars Trip Artillery By 32-31 Score

The Kingston Stars, composed of players from this year's high school varsity DUSO champs, proved that they are still on the winning stretch by defeating Headquarters Battery last night at the 15th Field Artillery armory by the score 32-31.

The Artillerymen, led by Nock, who dumped baskets in from all positions, maintained a slight lead over the Stars for three quarters of the game. In the last quarter Dublin, Flowers and Ashdown scored a total of five holds to tie the score. A foul made good by Doughty in the last minute of play gave the Stars a slight edge over the soldiers to take the game by one point.

Nock led the scoring attack for the soldiers, gathering 17 points. Flowers took the honors for the Stars, making good four fields and a foul for a total of nine points.

Elks Trim J.Y.A. In Prelim Game

The Elks were too much for the Jewish Youth Alliance in the preliminary at the auditorium last night, the Big Horns taking over by the score of 26-23.

Last night's trimming probably ended the titular hopes of the J. Y. A. five which sort of folded in the second round of the City Basketball League schedule. Sapp and Nussbaum led the Elks to a safe edge over the J. Y. A. through the game. At the end of the first half the score was 20-14. Britain's Press Assails Germany over open ground that was at least debatable but there is nothing left for moral debate in this crude and brutal act of oppression and suppression. The German government scarcely troubled to veil it.

The Irish Times, conservative: "How long will it be before those brooding eyes direct their gaze from Obersalzberg (Hitler's mountain chancellery) toward the coveted land of Alsace-Lorraine? How long will it be before Germany's man of destiny decides to make the final gambler's throw and hurl his legions at the British empire?"

The London Morning Telegraph, conservative: "The 'spirit of Munich' is dead and buried for who can hope to appease a box constrictor. It may well be recommended that the British government 'abate some of their 'sunshine talk' and substitute yet greater emphasis on vigilance."

The London Daily Mail, independent: "One thing and one thing only will serve Britain—her own armed might."

Tannersville Will Have District Court of Honor

The court of honor of the Mountain District will be held in the high school building at Tannersville tonight at 8 o'clock, with Chairman Donald Brockett of Windham in charge.

There are many awards to be made. Scout Executive R. Gardner Burns and possibly Dr. Keator, president of the council, will attend the meeting.

Suit Against Actress

Los Angeles, March 16 (AP)—A charge that Ethel Barrymore had kept a play manuscript since 1934, thus preventing its author from selling it, was contained today in a $15,000 damage action filed against the actress by Emily H. Denison, dramatist.

March Storm Delays Signs of Spring

Marking the 51st anniversary of the famous blizzard of 1888, a snow storm of blizzard proportions visited Kingston and surrounding area at the outset of the week. The storm although not the heaviest of recent winters, was one of the largest so late in the season in a long time. Shown above are scenes in the city on the morning after the storm.

Men Charged With Rioting To Have Hearing Tomorrow

The hearing in the case against Robert Bradner of Centerville, Orange county, and Charles Huffcut of Middletown RD 3, charged with rioting in connection with the recent milk diversion activities, have been adjourned to Friday at 11 a. m.

The case was to have been heard before Justice Charles F. Kaiser of Ellenville Wednesday morning, but at request of counsel, the hearing was adjourned to Friday.

The arrest of the two men was the outgrowth of an attack on a milk truck driven by Morgan Brooks of Sundown, the affair taking place on Route 52, the Shawangunk Trail, just outside the village of Ellenville. The window of the cab of Brooks' truck was broken during the melee and he was slightly cut.

You are absolutely right, the churches are full of hypocrites. What they need is folks like you to join them and set an example of sincerity. Then you will have a right to criticize.

Newburgh Jury Suspends Work

Newburgh, N. Y., March 16 (AP)—An extraordinary grand jury investigating affairs of Orange county and the city of Newburgh has departed temporarily from its inquiry into the Newburgh welfare administration.

The jury yesterday heard testimony from Newburgh's board of engineer examiners and witnesses from the town of Blooming Grove. The jury has been studying welfare conditions since beginning its work a month ago.

Governor Lehman ordered the investigation after a federal grand jury indicted 45 persons for illicit liquor operations.

New Navy Head

Washington, March 16 (AP)—Rear Admiral Harold R. Stark will head the navy for the next four years during its greatest peacetime expansion. The 58-year-old commander of battle force cruisers was chosen by President Roosevelt last night to succeed Admiral William D. Leahy as chief of naval operations. The change will take effect June 1 when Leahy retires on reaching the age limit of 64.

Czechs' Part at Fair Somewhat in Doubt

New York, March 16 (AP)—The $1,000,000 role which Czechoslovakia was to have played in the New York World's Fair remained in doubt today in the wake of that nation's breakup under pressure from Germany.

Dr. Josef E. Mraňa, Czechoslovak consul general in New York, said no instructions had been received from Prague regarding participation in the fair.

The Czech pavilion, including a large restaurant and outdoor beer garden, is almost completed. Germany is not represented at the fair.
